

3rd December 2021

Dear Parents

December!

Once again we all extend our thanks to you for taking all the added precautions to help to keep us all safe here in school! We appreciate the added distance to staff this week as well and all the smiles and cheery faces!

On Wednesday we were visited by the flu immunisation nurses. The lines moved quickly and all children showed great courage in overcoming their fears. If your child missed this opportunity you can make contact with the NHS to rebook.

I have been over to visit the closed side of the school today and have enclosed a few pictures of the works for you to see. It is unlikely that the works will be finished as expected as there have been a few additional discoveries hiding under the walls. This has included a hidden fireplace in the far wall!

This week are continuing to explore the virtue of joyfulness – this week we have been finding joy in simple things. A parent shared a few pictures of the Kehelland School Christmas Tree in Camborne Church – our virtue Gonk's were certainly spreading joy! Thank you all.

There was also joy spreading in Truro this week when a select crew of class three singers joined the TPAT choir to brighten up the late-night shoppers evening. Thank you to Mrs Orchard for joining them and spreading Joy to all.

Have a restful weekend

Joanna Harvey

Carols in Truro

Well done to Toby, Millie, Eva, and Scarlett, who represented us in a TPAT schools Christmas choir in Truro for late night shopping accompanied by a brass band. An amazing Christmas atmosphere and they sung their hearts out!

School Meals - week beginning 6th Dec

Week 3

Violin Demo

Class 3 were treated to a violin assembly today by Fin and Emily both in year 5. They were brilliant and played with such confidence. They are both working towards the Initial Grade level. We currently have availability in school if your child is interested in lessons from Stuart who works for Cornwall music Service Trust. Please see Mrs Orchard for more information.

Camborne Christmas Tree Exhibition

Huge thanks to Charlotte Browning who came into school to help the children make the Christmas Gongs to decorate our tree which has been on display in Camborne Church for the past week.

A very impressive display!

Tuck Rota

On Friday 10th December it will be ENYS and on Friday 17th December it will be PORTH. Thank you to all parents who provide tuck each week to support our charities.
